Training manuals, handouts, exam and certificates are included in the course fee. Travel expenses, including lodging, transportation, incidentals, entertainment, meals and associated expenses are not included in course fee.

Participants will need to bring a laptop/tablet with USB & pdf capabilities, and are encouraged to bring their own survey meter, past training manuals and procedures.

Attendee should meet all pre-requisites and understand that completion of course does not guarantee regulatory recognition or compliance. Successful course completion requires 100% attendance and a test score of 70% or greater. No credit or refunds for partial attendance or insufficient test scores. A substitution for the entire class is permitted, but cancellations after March 2, 2022 may incur a 25% fee.

If the course minimum of (4) attendees is not met, Chase Environmental Group (CEG) reserves the right to change, cancel or reschedule the training, location or time as deemed necessary without compensation for any travel related expenses, charges or fees incurred by registrant. Registrants cannot be confirmed without a completed registration form, and payment is due prior to issuance of a course certificate.

I understand and declare that I'm authorized to accept the terms and conditions associated with the course registration.
